

Please join us...

Spoken Art:

Celebrating Women's Stories

Saturday, October 5, 2013,

5-8 p.m. in the Lincoln Room,
located in the Workers United Building at 333 S. Ashland.

Hear six amazing women tell their stories...about how they empowered themselves and others.

Cost: $10

The event includes:

- Six women, telling their stories about how they empowered themselves and others.
- Live auction in which patrons will have a chance to buy an array of custom and handmade products
- Arts and crafts vendors—everything from jewelry to chair massage to glass creations!

- Food, dessert and non-alcoholic beverages are free; wine extra.

*Proceeds go toward the Working Women's History Project. Support a local organization, meet amazing women who have devoted their life towards gaining social justice for women, buy unique and homemade products and mingle, eat and drink! Free parking is available.

WORKING WOMEN'S HISTORY PROJECT

Connecting today with yesterday • Making women's history come alive

For tickets and more information go to:
<http://wwhpcicago.org> or call 773.673.4537